

Craig Stobie	Director
---------------------	-----------------

Craig is a Global Director at Domino Printing Sciences PLC, a world leader in the development and manufacture of variable data printing solutions.

Craig has worked at Domino for more than 27 years in scientific, operations, service, and strategic roles. A graduate chemist and physicist Craig leads an international team of commercial, technical, and engineering specialists. He has a broad view of the many complex and connected legislative, sustainability, supply chain, compliance, and financial pressures facing companies worldwide.

Craig is passionate about providing opportunities for young people to realise their potential in an environment that is supportive and inclusive, whilst also challenging them in preparation for the evolving employment landscape.