

Craig Stobie

Non-Executive Director (Trustee)

Craig serves as Global Director at Domino Printing Sciences (PLC), the world leader in variable data printing solutions. With over 30 years' experience across Science, Operations, Service, and Strategic functions, he brings comprehensive industry expertise to his leadership role.

A graduate Chemist and Physicist, Craig leads international teams of engineering specialists while maintaining deep understanding of the complex regulatory, sustainability, supply chain, compliance, and financial challenges facing global companies today.

Craig is also a Board Member of a non-profit collaboration of the world's leading industry and technology organisations that are working together to improve the sustainability of packaging.

Passionate about creating opportunities for young people in supportive, inclusive environments that challenge them while preparing them for future employment. Craig's focus on developing the skills employees will need reflects his strategic understanding of evolving workplace demands.

Craig is also a Parish councillor.