Graham Hewer

Non-Executive Director (Trustee) & Member

Graham is a retired Headteacher with extensive experience in educational leadership and school transformation. During his tenure as Headteacher of Greenpark Primary School (1993-2011), he achieved exceptional outcomes, with Ofsted recognizing the school as "good with outstanding features" and specifically commending his "strong leadership" and "energy and determination to drive the school forward."

Graham pioneered the first 'network of community' schools programme in England, serving as founding Chair until 2011. This groundbreaking initiative established new models for collaborative educational delivery and community engagement.

As a founder Member of the Trust, Graham continues to provide strategic support and challenge to raise educational standards. He also serves as Link Director for Safeguarding, ensuring robust protection frameworks for students and staff.
